VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System

Its Medical Properties are

ALTERATIVE, TONIC SOLVENT AND DIURETIC

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks roots and herbs, and is strongly concentrated It will effectually eradicate from the system every taint of Scrofula Scrofulous Humor, Tumors Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker Rash-es at the Stomach and all diseases that arise from impure blood Sciatica Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism Neuralgia Gout and Spinal Complaints can only be effectually cured through the blood

For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin Pustules, Pimples Blotches Boils Tetter Salt Rheum Erysipelas Scald Head and Ringworm, VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints Dropsy, Female Weakness Leucorrhœa, arising from Ulcera-tion and uterine diseases and General Debility Vegetine acts directly upon the causes of these complaints It invigorates and strengthens the whole system acts upon the secretive organs allays inflammation cures ulceration and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh Dyspepsia Habitual Costiveness Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervousness and General Prostration of the Nervous System no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the Vegetine It purifies the blood cleanses all of the organs and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system

The remarkable cures effected by Vegetine have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families

In fact Vegetine is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and is the only reliable Blood Purifier yet placed before the public

UNQUALIFIED APPRECIATION.

BOSTON, Nov 18, 1875.

H R. STEVENS Esq

DEAR SIR—During the past five years I have had ample opportunity to judge of the merit of VEGETINE My wife has used it for complaints attending her delicate health, with more beneficial results than anything else which she ever tried I have given it to my children under almost every circumstance attending a large family, and always with marked benefit. I have taken it myself with such great benefit that I cannot find words to express my unqualified appreciation of its goodness

While performing my duties as a Police Officer in this city, it has been my lot to fall in with a great deal of sickness I unhesitatingly recommend Vegetine and I never know of a case where it did not prove of the benefit was claimed for it. Particularly in cases of a debilitated or impoverished state of the blood its effects are really wonderful, and for all complaints arising from an impure state of the blood it appears to work like a charm, and I do not believe there are any circumstances under which Vegetine can be used with injurious results, and it will always afford me pleasure to give any further information as to what I know about Vegetine

CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

CHARLESTOWN, March 19, 1876

H E. STEVENS

Dear Sir This is to certify that I have used your "Blood Purifier" in my family for several years, and I think that for Scrofula or Cankerous Humors or Rheumatic Affections it cannot be excelled, and as a Blood Purifier and spring medicine it is the best thing I have ever used, and I have used almost everything I can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine. Yours respectfully,

MRS A A DINSMORE 19 Russell St.

DEMOCRACY OF LONG BRANCH

Long Branch is sui generis and it is perhaps better in accord with the spirit of American institutions than any other of our watering places It is more republican than either Newport or Coney Island because within its bounds the extremes of our life meet more freely It is not so aristocratic as Newport yet the President of the United States lives there, and so do many other prominent examples of our political literary artistic commercial, and social life It is not so Democratic as Coney Island, yet the poorer and more ignorant classes are largely represented throughout the season On hot Sundays there come to Long Branch great throngs of cheap excursionists small tradesmen and artisans with their families, with a sprinkling of roughs and shysters—just such throngs as also go to Long Island on the same day Long Branch has equal attractions for rich and poor It is quite astonishing with what ease the millionaire can get rid of dollars there and it is almost equally astonishing what cheap and comfortable quarters are at the command of the humblest purses The same magnificent sea view which is put so heavily in the bill of the lodger on the first floor of the big hotels can be enjoyed by the poorer lodger near the roof of the cheaper houses at a comparatively insignificant cost If there are great taverns where one pays four or five dollars a day with huge extras for special rooms and luxuries, there are also cheap hotels and even German Gasthauser where poorer folks can live It there are elegant cottages for Presidents and merchant princes and railway kings, there are also abundant boarding houses for people who count their pennies carefully before spending them Some of the most crushing dances who loaf in the parlor door at the fashionable hotels when the Saturday night 'hop' is on faultless in attire and killingly eyeglassed and moustached, might be traced to humble abodes in the back region behind the theatrical scene when they saunter homeward in the hour approaching midnight. They sometimes condescend to join the dancers on the floor and they bathe at the fashionable hour with great assiduity but where they eat and sleep can only be conjectured There are just as well-bred well mannered and well appearing gentlemen as any at Long Branch, and are just as well received by what is there called society —Clive Logan in Harper's Magazine for September

SHALL SHEEP BE SACRIFICED?

The depression that prevails in the wool market and the unpromising outlook for remunerative prices, have no doubt raised the question in the minds of no inconsiderable number of farmers who raise sheep whether it is prudent to keep their flocks intact, or abandon this branch of husbandry. There is no doubt that the market in woolen goods is over-stocked Numbers of mills are idle, while others are in operation run on short time Certainly it is not an auspicious period for the woolen interest and growers and manufactures alike feel the pressure It is but natural under these circumstances that the question should arise as to what should be done in the premises

There are those, doubtless who will succumb to the pressure sacrifice their sheep and discard wool-growing altogether That course in our opinion is unwise It is possible that it may not be profitable for a year or more to raise sheep for their fleece alone but it is well to recollect that the value of a flock of sheep, to every intelligent farmer knows who has kept them does not depend entirely upon the price of wool There are other factors in the problem of sheep husbandry which must be considered in fairness, and these should not be lost sight of now It is hardly necessary to enumerate them We may say however in passing that good mutton brings a fair price but this will decline if a large percentage of the flocks now in the country are either being put into a tolerable condition, hurried to the butcher

It is a good time however to cull the inferior sheep from the flocks and prepare these for the shambles There are more or less sheep that are comparitively non productive or yield no returns for keeping and these should be fattened and sold A sheep that shears less than four pounds of wool is not worth keeping and may well be turned off Keep the best and sell the poorest, and breed only the former kind We believe that sheep should be kept on the farm no matter what the price of wool may be and the depression in wool which now prevails is temporary It will not continue always The country has passed through similar periods and wool growers come out with flying colors Those who were not frightened out of their wits but held steadily to the line of judicious sheep husbandry, finally profited by the course they pursued History repeats itself We have strong faith that the conditions of the wool and woolen interest in this country will furnish, in the not far future, another proof of the truth of this apothegm

We have remarked that the value of sheep on the farm does not consist wholly of the money realized from the wool produced, nevertheless even when the price of the staple is low the cash returns from its sale come to many farmers at a time when they are much needed The clip is marketable just before harvest, and it happens not unfrequently that the money received for it bridges over this important season, or at least assist in doing so—a consideration which will hardly be lost sight of Let us admonish our friends to consider the subject in all of its bearings, keeping in mind the prominent fact that this industry is one that the country cannot do without In all branches of rural industry there are periods of depression but it will hardly do to discard such as constitute an important reliance, one year with another, because for one or two seasons they scarcely pay the cost of production. At this juncture there is not very much that is encouraging in sheep husbandry nevertheless, let us not discard the sheep however large or small the flock may be The number kept may be reduced in most instances and doubtless will be but the nucleus of a flock at least should be kept Cull out the worthless, discard "scrub" rams, and breed to the best standards, and by and by all will be well —Prairie Farmer

AN IMPORTANT REPORT ON DISINFECTANTS.

The sixth of the new series of reports of the medical officers of the privy council and local government board contains an article on the great study of disinfectants, by Dr Baxter. A great number of very careful experiments were made with a view to test the disinfectants commonly used. Evidences was adduced to show that carbolic acid, sulphur, permanganate of potash and chlorine are all endowed with true disinfectant properties, though in very varying degrees. The effectual disinfectant operation of chlorine and permanganate of potash appears to depend far more on the nature of the medium through which the particles of the infective matter are distributed than on the specific character of the particles themselves A virulent liquid cannot be regarded as certainly and completely disinfected by sulphur unless it has been rendered permanently and thoroughly acid No virulent liquid can be considered disinfected by carbolic acid unless it contains at least two per centum by weight of the pure acid

When disinfectants are mixed with a liquid, it is very important to be sure that they are thoroughly incorporated with it and that no solid matters capable of shielding contagium from immediate contact with its destroyer be overlooked Aerial disinfection as commonly practiced in the sick room is either useless or positively objectionable, owing to the false sense of security it is calculated to produce. To make the air of a room smell strongly of carbolic acid by scattering carbonic powder about the floor or of chlorine by placing a tray of chloride of lime in a corner, is so far as the destruction of specific contagia is concerned, an utterly futile proceeding

The practical result of these experiments goes to prove (1) that dry heat when it can be applied is probably the most efficient of all disinfectants (2) that the old plan of stopping up crevices and fumigating with sulphur and charcoal is more efficacious than any other proceeding with more modern disinfectants (3) that the use of carbolic vapor for disinfecting purposes should be abandoned owing to the relative feebleness and uncertainty of its action —London Times

THE CASE AGAINST TILDEN.

[From N Y Times]

It is a novelty in American politics to find a Presidential candidate convicted out of his mouth of perjury and fraud, and still more of a novelty to find him attempting to dodge such an issue by legal quibbling which would disgrace a Tombs shyster. On Tuesday last the Times made the following charges against Governor Tilden

1. That on the 20th of September, 1863, Mr. Tilden made an income tax return, under oath, in which he said that his total income from all sources for the year 1862 amounted to only $7,118, and on that amount his tax was paid But on the 5th of August, 1876, Mr. Tilden made another deposition under oath, in the form of an answer to the suit of the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute Railroad, in which he said that on the 17th of October, 1862, he was paid for professional services by the bondholders of that road the sum of $10,000, and that on November 7, 1862, he was paid a further sum of $10,000 On the assumption (which is of course a preposterous one) that these two fees represented Mr Tilden's professional income for 1862, it may be argued that he was legally entitled to make certain deductions for taxes, repairs, &c, which would reduce his taxable income to the amount given in his sworn deposition. But we have Mr Tilden's own testimony that in 1863 he was unable to figure out the deductions allowed by law at more than $6,552, and we have his further testimony under oath that he admitted an annual income of about $13,000 from dividends and interest on investments By way of completing this part of the case against Mr Tilden, we may add a new item of his income of which we can produce legal evidence, viz the receipt on June 14, 1862, of $5 000 from the Cumberland Coal and Iron Company. Keeping, then strictly within the evidence which can be proved to the satisfaction of a court of law, we have the following case against Mr Tilden in relation to his income of 1862

Fees from Terre Haute Railroad	$20 000
Dividends and interest	13 000
Cumberland Coal and Iron Company	5 000
Total	$38,000
Deduct expenses taxes &c	6,552
Net proved income	$31,448
Net income stated under oath	7,118
Income fraudulently concealed	$24 330

We need hardly say that the case against Mr Tilden, when it comes to be investigated will prove very much stronger than this A man who made five millions of dollars in fifteen years must have reckoned his annual income by hundreds of thousands. But without going beyond demonstrated facts, we have shown that in 1863 Samuel J Tilden evaded payment of his just proportion of income tax by perjury

2 After 1863 and down to 1872, when the income tax was abolished, Mr. Tilden made no return of his income He allowed the Assessors to guess at the amount, and was perfectly content to pay the penalty of fifty per cent for failure to make a return, since he could defraud the Government without running the annual risk of a prosecution for perjury That he did defraud the Government is sufficiently obvious from the fact that he paid tax during all these years on an average income, penalty included, of only $15,000. It is perfectly clear that Mr Tilden during the ten years in which he was accumulating the largest part of his enormous fortune, must have had an income more than ten times as great as that on which he paid tax

To these grave accusations of perjury and fraud, there has been given but one reply It is that the $20 000 received from the Terre Haute Railroad in 1862, represented the earnings of several years, and was therefore not at all chargeable to the income of that year The answer totally fails to meet the case 1 Because half the fee was actually earned in 1862 2 Because there were half a dozen similar fees received in 1862, of which the Cumberland Coal Company's was one, and 3 Because the law has been clearly and repeatedly declared to be—by Judge Blatchford, among others, so lately as March last—that the taxable income of a given year is represented by the money actually received in that year, no matter when it was earned The ignorance of the law displayed by Mr Tilden's apologists in the press may be real or feigned, that ignorance neither is nor was shared by Mr. Tilden himself The Times HAS NOT PRONOUNCED MR TILDEN A PERJURER AND A SWINDLER WITHOUT DUE DELIBERATION AND AMPLE PROOFS, it will withdraw these epithets until Mr Tilden or his friends produce equally satisfactory proofs to sustain the assertion that he did not swear falsely and did not defraud the Government We need hardly add that if these expressions are not withdrawn, Mr Tilden would best consult his own interests and those of his party by withdrawing from the canvass

OUR NEXT REPUBLICAN MEETING

It has been found necessary to make a change in the appointments and Ex Governor Noyes of Ohio, has been assigned elsewhere, so that the meeting announced for Saturday evening next in Norombega will be deferred to Monday evening, September 4th, when our citizens will have the pleasure of listening to one of the Republican leaders in Congress, General James A Garfield, of Ohio The wide reputation of that gallant soldier and distinguished Representative, who has borne a prominent part in the political and legislative affairs of the Nation since the war, will impart a special interest to his appearance before the Republicans of Bangor, and his ability and power as a speaker will insure our citizens a valuable and entertaining address

A LOUD CALL FOR TILDEN TO EXPLAIN

[From the N Y Tribune]

Here at last is some sense in a serious business. The World fully appreciates the gravity of the accusation made against Gov Tilden in the matter of income return, and as fully the worthlessness of the explanations that have thus far been offered Evidently it has its eye on the Private Secretary and kindred performers, when it says, very properly

We have no doubt that Mr. Tilden in his own way and at his own time will think it not unbecoming his position as the candidate of a great party for the first office in the land to set his foot upon the charges. In the meanwhile it strikes us that no judicious friend of Mr. Tilden or of the Democratic party, or of the repute of the United States, which is involved in the repute of citizens so conspicuous and so highly trusted, will be over-hasty in volunteering explanations of a matter entirely personal in its nature

This is to the point, and sensible Now let us hear Gov. Tilden—not merely on the question of an income return of only $7,000 in a year in which, besides a great many other receipts, he has sworn to getting a single fee of $20,000, but also on the more important question of having made no other return in subsequent years, and of paying in consequence a tax ridiculously out of proportion to his known income.

"The average Maine Democrat turns pale with horror when he hears that Col. Ingersoll once wrote a book against Christianity. Poor man! He should go and refresh his soul with an hour's spiritual communion with that pious brother John Morrissey. John is what might be called a muscular Christian.—N. Y. Tribune.

TROOPS NEEDED

PROOF OF THE NECESSITY OF THE PRESIDENT'S ORDER—A DEMOCRATIC ACCOUNT OF INTIMIDATION BY WHITE LINERS

[Dispatch to the Charleston News and Courier (Dem)]

AIKEN, S C., Sunday evening, Aug 13 In accordance with instructions, I went over to Edgfield Court House yesterday, to report the Republican meeting at that place Governor Chamberlain, Congressman Smalls, and Judge Mackay came over from Columbia, and arrived at Edgefield in the morning. Elliott didn't come The meeting was held in front of the Academy, outside of the village, and about 1,500 persons, white and black were present As soon as the Republicans had taken the stand, about 600 mounted whites rode up with a large crowd on foot, and demanded half of the time for Democratic speakers—The Governor assented and agreed to half an hour for each speaker. The stand was then crowded with Democrats and Republicans.

The Governor spoke first, but said very little, and was evidently under great restraint He spoke of his desire to reform the State and compared himself in this respect to Gov Tilden He held that, if elected, he could do more towards reform than any one else Meantime the Democrats kept crowding closer to the stand, showing a determination to do everything to break up the meeting

About this time the stand came down with a crash, but was replaced and Gen Butler replied to the Governor He made a very bitter speech, speaking out boldly his opinion of the Governor He said that Smalls and the Governor had denounced him as the leader of the Ku Klux and Regulators If they had made this statement believing it to be true, he was there, face to face and defied them to prove it If they did not rise and prove it, they stood confessed liars No proof was offered

Judge Mackey next spoke, indorsing Gov Chamberlain, and holding that he could do more for the Democrats than one of their own party He said he knew they could elect their county ticket, but thought it unwise in them to oppose the Governor

Gen Cary followed in a very hot speech against the Governor, in which he abused him roundly, accusing him of fraud and corruption, and of wilfully keeping Treasurer McDevitt in power after his rascality had been made known to him.

Judge Mackey then rose again, but was so frequently interrupted by the Democrats that he could say nothing

At this point the stand fell flat prostrating every one upon it except Gen Butler who remained perched upon the only point left standing This mishap was received by the Democrats with cheer after cheer, as signal that Radicals would go down and the Democrats stay up The negroes by this time were completely hacked

Gov Chamberlain and Smalls left the stand, and with the negroes moved off toward the village, followed by the Democrats, cheering and jeering, and threatening to break them up wherever they went to speak

The Democrats then assembled in Court-House Square, and had a meeting of their own, at which Messrs. Joseph Collison W S Allen, John R Abney, Gen Cary and others spoke, declaring that they would carry the county, peaceably if they could, but carry it they would

The Democrats are very jubilant over their victory, and gave the Republicans to understand that they intended to carry the county and would treat any meeting they attempted to have in the same way that they had done this one The negroes dispersed quietly and did not attempt to raise another meeting

A LETTER FROM MILFORD

HOW THE YOUNG MEN WILL VOTE

MILFORD, Aug 28, 1876

Mr Editor In the Commercial of Aug 25th is a communication signed Observer, designed to slur a "young man of Milford" because he has declared his intention to vote for Hayes and Wheeler

It is a well known fact that Observer is a double composed of two persons, and that the slur in question is the production of his double

It is one of the chaste and elegant expressions that have dropped from the lips of that decayed substitute broker, who is so prominent as a Democratic leader, in Milford by that Democratic "sitting calf" who furnishes the minute quantity of brains required to run the Democratic machine in Milford

It is unnecessary to deny the insinuation contained in that article, as the fact that it is original with that life-long Democrat who left the Republican party four years ago, because Republican laws, enforced by Republican officials disastrously affected his business as a rumseller, and routed rumsellers must fall into one of two places—the Democratic party or the penitentiary that it was written out for him by that lieutenant who writes all his documents, and that it appears in the columns of the Commercial will convince any decent person that it is as false as the false hearts of its authors?

A regard for common decency would suppress that boast of its cheap man, which appears in the same article, but what can be expected if that street brawler, who is utilizing the experience acquired as a substitute broker to put in substitutes for men into the Democratic party who will vote in the coming election

The young men of Milford will not hasten to connect themselves with that party which proposes by cheap votes, deposited by cheap men, to give us a cheap government, and which is so fully represented by that illustrious trio of Irish-Americans, the decayed substitute broker, "sitting calf" and Tom McMahon

Yours, VERITAS

AN INCIDENT

Mr Editor —The following incident which actually took place during the war, in a neighboring town, is so suggestive in our present political canvass that I offer it for publication Between two members of the Republican party a bitter feud had long existed, leading to an entire non-intercourse and want of confidence for years. One of them was nominated for Representative against a copperhead opponent and every vote was regarded necessary to success. On election morning, as the candidate was sitting by the polls, his hater presented himself to vote an unscratched ticket, very much to the surprise of all At this moment the eyes of the two met when the vote went in with the emphatic remark "Sir, I vote not for you but for my country!"

What a text for a practical sermon.

Prof. Chas. Flamant

Has the honor to announce to his pupils and others that he will resume his instruction in the French language and literature on the 6th of September

As many persons are desirous to know what method he uses Mr Flamant will say that he has no "method" whereby those who can devote but little time to study can get the advantage of those who can study a good deal The grammar and idioms of a language can be thoroughly acquired only by patient study With a competent native teacher, the length of time during which study must be continued depends entirely upon the intelligence and application of the pupil

THE TIDE RISING.

A GLORIOUS RALLY IN CALAIS.

Hon. Frederick A. Pike Presides.

HE MAKES A STRONG SPEECH FOR HAYES AND WHEELER.

An Immence Audience Greets Messrs. Kasson and Blaine.

[SPECIAL TO THE WHIG AND COURIER.]

CALAIS, Aug. 29. The Republican Opening Rally here to-night was a rouser. St. Croix Hall being filled to overflowing. At the outset a decided sensation was created by the introduction of Hon. Frederick A. Pike as presiding officer, and the interest was raised to the highest pitch when he took the stand and proceeded to declare himself strongly in favor of Hayes and Wheeler and the Republican State ticket. He made an able speech in advocacy of the National Republican candidates and paid a glowing tribute to the career, character and ability of Governor Connor.

He was followed by Hon. John A. Kasson, who gave a vigorous presentation of the issues of the campaign, and instituted a powerful contrast between the records and characters of the two opposing candidates for the Presidency. Tilden's claims as Reformer were thoroughly and effectively dissected by the speaker, who was listened to with the greatest attention.

Hon James G. Blaine was enthusiastically greeted and presented a scathing review of the record made by the Democratic House, showing its incompetency, partisanship and disregard of all propriety and of all public interests. He commanded the closest attention of the large assemblage.

The opening of the campaign is most auspicious and Calais may be relied upon for a heavy Republican vote.

ST. CROIX.

At Ferry Village.

The Republicans of Ferry Village, Cape Elizabeth, unfurled a Hayes and Wheeler banner to-night, and speeches were made by W. P. Whitehouse, Esq., of Augusta, Hon. W. W. Thomas, Jr., and J. O. Winship, of Augusta. The Portland uniformed companies were present. Much enthusiasm was manifested.

THE STATE FAIR.

Opening Day.

PORTLAND, Aug. 29. The consolidated exhibition of the Maine State Agricultural Society and Stock Breeders Association opened to-day at Portland. Entries for cattle are very full, larger than for any previous year. The same is true of horses. Short horn and Jersey cattle make fine exhibits. In the hall, articles are still coming in and the arrangement is not quite complete, but the show will evidently be fine in that direction. A prominent feature is a collection of Centennial relics, which attracts great attention.

The Races.

Three races were trotted at the Presumpscot Park this afternoon; one for green horses, in which Camos won in three straight heats in 2.44, 2.49, 2.48½. In the 2.30 race Plymouth Rock won. Best time 2.34. In the race for 5-years old, Tom B. Patchen won in three straight heats in 2.34, 2.32, 2.34.

FROM CALAIS.

More House Burning.

CALAIS, Aug. 29. The fire-demon is still at work here. A house and barn belonging to Robert Leisure were burned last night. Loss $500: no insurance.

FROM PEMBROKE.

Buildings Burned.

PEMBROKE, Aug. 29. The dwelling house, barn, outbuildings, furniture, farming tools and two large hogs belonging to James Davis of Robbinston, were consumed by fire yesterday morning. Supposed incendiary. Loss $3,000. No insurance.

John J. Varney's dwelling house at the Iron Works village was destroyed by fire to-day. Furniture saved. Loss $800.—Fully insured.

FROM BIDDEFORD.

Highway Robbery.

BIDDEFORD, Aug. 29. At Buxton, a man was stopped in the woods by a highwayman in the same place where Harriman was robbed the other night and $48 in bills was taken from him.

Pay Reduced.

The York Manufacturing Co. has reduced the pay of its operatives in some departments 10 per cent.

Promoted.

The Biddeford light Infantry last evening elected Lieut. C. P. Berry, Captain, vice Andrews, promoted to the Governor's staff.

Circular Sawed It.

Joseph R. Gonyes, a Frenchman, met with a shocking accident in Hobson's steam mill and is minus one thumb and three fingers. A circular saw did it.

Sneak Thief.

John Dion of Manchester, a sneak thief, stole an opera glass, pocket-book and other articles from a coat belonging to Mr. A. Libby of Augusta, while Libby was bathing at Orchard Beach. Dion was arrested and bound over in $500. While Marshal Sands was taking him through Cutt's Avenue from the Police Court, he took leg bail and was recaptured after a long chase.

FROM FARMINGTON.

Buildings Burned.

FARMINGTON, August 29. A house and barn belonging to John Morrison, of Wilton, were burned last night. Loss about $1,000; partially insured.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

WASHINGTON

The New Bonds.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29. It is stated that the Rothschilds desire the bonds they bid for as soon as they can be delivered, and Secretary Morrill has taken measures to have all parties fully supplied in a few days. The success of the new bonds is quite marked.

The Special Agents of Treasury.

Only 30 special agents of the Treasury are left in service, 28 having been removed peremptorily yesterday under the provision of the Congressional appropriation bill. Among those dropped is agent Hale of New York, who was specially appointed by Bristow. C. W. Brackett, one of the oldest and most faithful officers in the revenue service, is the only special Treasury agent retained in this city.

Who Was Hat

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29. No such name as Avenstine or Montoss is found in the list of officers of the navy, and it is not believed at the Navy Department that the unfortunate man who suicided at Newark had any connection with the naval service.

Secretary Morrill.

Secretary Morrill left this morning for Maine, to be absent several days. Assistant Secretary Conant will act as Secretary during Mr. Morrill's absence.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Killed.

BOSTON, Aug. 29. Rebecca Gillen, while intoxicated, fell down stairs at 104 Maverick-st. and was killed.

Blackmail.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29. The Independent Republicans of this city last night formally endorsed the nomination of Ex-Gov. Morgan of Saratoga.

The Great Coal Sale.

The great coal sale took place this noon. The square was completely blocked with coal speculators and buyers from all parts of the country. Intense excitement reigned in the neighborhood and wagons, trucks and windows were filled with spectators, while actual buyers were congregated in a dense mass around the auctioneer's stand. The latter read the conditions of the sale and announced that it was perfectly bona fide and that no reservation was to be put on the goods offered for sale. He said there were four companies represented in the sale, but they were not combined in any way and no effort would be made by them to keep the market up. Buyers could bid and rest assured that their own judgment was all the bad to contend with. The sale was begun with 110,000 tons of Lackawana coal put up by the Delaware and Hudson Canal Co. Five hundred tons of steamboat coal were first disposed of from $2.75 to $3.00; 40,000 tons of grate from $3.20 to $3.50; 25,000 tons of egg at $3.12½ and $3.25; and 40,000 tons stove at $3.80 and $3.90. The 110,000 tons offered by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Co., were next put up. The steamboat coal sold at $2.70 to $2.85; 3,000 tons grate, $2.67½ to $2.85; egg coal, 15,000 tons, at $2.75 to $2 80; 40,000 tons stove at $3.55 to $3.65; chestnut coal 15,000 tons, at $2.70 to $2.75.

Other Great Sales Coming.

Prices on coal have tumbled from $1 to $2 per ton on all grades of coal. It is said other gigantic coal sales will follow.

FOREIGN NEWS.

THE TURCO-SERVIAN WAR.

The London Times' Views on the Establishment of Peace.

LONDON, Aug. 29. The Times to-day says the realization of the promise of peace in the East depends upon ourselves. All influences affecting the decision are favorable to peace, except those which we directly or indirectly control. The Servian Government wishes for peace. The Czar, as always, desires peace. It rests with the representative of England to speak words that shall be decisive for peace or war. It depends upon our Ambassador in pressing the Porte to agree to an armistice, whether the armistice shall, or shall not be concluded. If his language is clear and strong the thing will be done. Lacking in precision there will be some plea of necessity of consulting the commander before Alexinatz, writing for an audience with the Sultan, or some reason on which the chances of peace will be shipwrecked. Peace can be best obtained by the co-operation of Russia and England. We must press the Porte to be content in the end if the war leaves his strength what it was at the beginning. This is our share of the duty in making peace. It certainly is not more difficult than the share allotted to the Czar.

Progress of the steps for mediation.

LONDON, Aug. 29. A special to the Telegraph from Vienna says the Great Powers are constantly interchanging telegrams concerning the proposed mediation. A general agreement has been reached touching the principal features of the policy to be adopted, but the details are unsettled. Germany is the most backward of the powers. It is believed no great difficulty will be experienced in determining the steps to be taken, but several days will probably elapse before the powers submit their proposals to the Porte.

MR. DONWORTH'S CAMPAIGN.

The Bangor diversion in his favor—The anti-Powers meeting last night—The Winn speeches repeated—A. M. Roberts, Marcellus Emery, Peleg T. Jones, J. H. Butler and other of Donworth's managers eagerly watching the proceedings.

The distribution of showers of handbills on Monday, the employment of an army of barefooted urchins on Tuesday to cry and peddle circulars, and a special announcement in the Commercial called out quite a large gathering at City Hall last evening to hear what the anti-Powers bolters would have to say, and to see what, if anything, they would do. The Hall was well filled with persons of both parties, the Democrats having a special interest in the proceedings, and such zealous champions of Donworth, as Amos M. Roberts, Marcellus Emery, Peleg Jones, J. H. Butler, Dr. Jordan and others occupying seats in the gallery, on the floor or on the stage.

The meeting was called to order by some one unknown to our reporter, who introduced F. M. Sabine, Esq., to preside.—That gentleman made quite a lengthy speech, principally devoted to asserting his devotion to the Republican cause and his determined opposition to restoring the rebels to power in the Government, and to a rather difficult attempt to explain that the way to prevent this is by a movement only calculated to aid the defeat of the Republican candidate and the election of a rebel sympathizing Democrat to Congress.

He was followed by M. H. Angell, Esq., who was quite funny and inclined to quote poetry. He too expressed great devotion to the Republican party, coupled with a very earnest desire for its defeat in this district. He wanted the Republican candidate defeated, and hence thought that all other people should see the wisdom of the movement.

The next speaker was Charles P. Brown, Esq., who also expressed the same devotion to the Republican party, but indicated that he was even more devoted to honesty, morality and reform. He mourned a decadence in the standards of public and private integrity and morals, which has become especially notable since he was defeated for the Legislature; and he felt glad to get in a select party where his fine sense of honor would be spared any shock. Mr. Brown attempted to abuse Senator Hamlin, but was not very successful. In fact if we were Mr. Hamlin, and if we were to be abused at all, we should be rather pleased to have just such gentlemen as Mr. Brown abuse us. Mr. Brown was also very sure that the best way to oppose the Democrats in this District is to help elect their candidate to Congress. His vote against the Republican candidate last year was probably given on the same ground.

Hon. John B. Foster followed and seemed more unhappy than either of the preceding. He toyed with a few introductory sentences and then plunged at his main subject, fairly bubbling over with the expression of his hatred for Hannibal Hamlin. He simulated great surprise that he should have been unfavorably referred to by the man whom he has daily and hourly abused, on the streets, in counting rooms and at conferences for months, and with more or less constancy for years. Mr. Foster should remember that himself and Mr. Hamlin have been known a long time by the citizens of Bangor, and that the relative estimation in which they are held is not likely to be changed by public speeches. Mr. Foster is also intensely devoted to the Republican party, and says he would prefer that the Democratic rather than the Republican candidate for Congress be elected.

Hon. A. G. Wakefield next took the stand, and as he was not expected to indulge in vituperation or abuse, the spectators gathered by curiosity rapidly poured out of the Hall, until at the close of his remarks there were but a few people scattered about the seats. Among other things Mr. Wakefield said the Editor of THE WHIG had never said editorially that Mr. Powers was his first choice. Mr. Wakefield forgets that we do not belong to his party, and have never adopted the idea that all our fellow-citizens are bound to adopt our first choice. We have supported many candidates who were not our first choice. We once even supported Mr. Foster for the Senate and Mr. Brown for Representative, although by no means our first choice. Mr. Wakefield will perceive that the question of first choice is one for the Convention, and that the question of choice now lies between Mr. Powers and Mr. Donworth. Mr. Wakefield, in his reference to us, omitted to state that in conversation with us last evening he was unable and unwilling to say that he had the slightest expectation that Mr. Oak could be elected; that he expressed a belief that Mr. Powers would not be elected; and that he was unable to demur to our logical deduction that if he did not expect Mr. Oak's election and did not believe Mr. Powers would be chosen, he must believe that Donworth would be elected, and that the movement in the name of Oak would insure that result. Mr. Wakefield declined answering the direct question whether he would prefer the election of Donworth rather than Mr. Powers, but the refusal in such a case was an answer of itself.

After Mr. Wakefield there were calls for Donigan, a gentleman who has special charge of the morals and chastity department of the bolt, but he failed to respond, and Mr. Henry Hill appeared and said he knew nothing about Mr. Powers and nothing against him and accordingly felt it his duty to oppose him at the polls.

A resolution, probably drafted by Mr. Donigan, protesting against immoral men, and expressing respect for the regard of moral women, was adopted and the meeting adjourned.

When cheers were called for Mr. Oak as a candidate not more than fifty persons participated and if the design was to manifest a popular support of the bolt in Bangor it certainly proved a conspicuous failure. No fifty or even one hundred men are entitled to assume to speak for or to represent themselves superior to the large body of Republican voters of this city, who are supporting the candidates of the party and determined that neither personal jealousies nor hatred or the intrigues of Democratic managers, shall send from the Fourth District of Maine an ally for the Confederate conspirators in Congress.

The platform of the select gathering of gentlemen who are engaged in this movement may be tersely set forth as follows:

Resolved, That the saints shall inherit the earth and the fulness thereof.

Resolved, That we are the saints.

REPUBLICAN RALLY AT EAST DIXMONT.

[For the Whig and Courier.]

Monday evening the Republicans of East Dixmont and vicinity gathered at the meeting-house to listen to our young and able fellow-citizen, Dr. A. E. Farnham, who addressed them in a very acceptable manner.

L. W. Starbird, Esq., presided, and in a few well-chosen remarks introduced the speaker. Mr. Farnham prefaced his speech by remarks upon the right and duty of every man voting, urging his hearers to not only exercise this privilege, but to see to it that their vote was given in favor of right, justice and freedom, and against the party which was not in favor of these principles.

No one more than the speaker lamented that we have not a party absolutely pure and noble, composed of Washingtons, Franklins and Adams. We have no such party, but must choose from what we have. Let us vote for the one which comes the nearest to this. The Republican party with its 80,000 office-holders has some unworthy men in office. It could not be otherwise. Even the excellent and divine institution—the Church—has its black sheep.

The Democrat tell us that the Republicans have stolen nearly all there is to steal. What have they stolen? how much? when and where? It is easy enough to accuse a party of crime, but to prove it, is another thing.

The record of the Democratic party is black and the party is guilty of all the crimes in the catalogue of vices, and now with cheek enough to make a statue blush, they shout "honesty and reform." The Democratic party believes in State Rights, Rum and Slavery. They have not changed their principles for thirty years. They make no progress unless it be in infamy. Look at the record of that party in the last Congress. Is it such as to give us the assurance of "honesty and reform?"

What is its position on the currency question? It reminded the speaker of a schoolmarm when being examined by the committeeman. Being asked whether the world was round or flat, she replied that some said it was round, others that it was flat; but that she indended to be prepared to teach it both ways. As measures of honesty and reform inaugurated by the Democratic party, look in the South—murder, riot, bloodshed, Ku-Klux and the White Line. The perpetrators of these infamous proceedings, are for honesty and reform.

The speaker then reviewed the record of Tilden during the war, his partnership with Tweed, railroads, his false oath in relation to the income tax and the economy of his administration while Governor of New York, thus showing his unfitness as the exponent of honesty and reform.

He then showed in contrast the record of our standard-bearers during the dark days of the Rebellion and since—a record pure and noble, giving ample assurances of the purity of an administration of which they should be the head.

In conclusion the speaker urged his hearers to candidly consider the record of the two great parties now asking for their suffrage, and decide which was the most worthy of their suport; which gave the greater assurance of honesty and reform, the one asking that its record might be forgotten, that asked that by-gones might be by-gones—the other inviting the most searching scrutiny of its past history and its present principles.

The speech was able and convincing, taking an hour for its delivery, and was heartily applauded at its close.

A GLORIOUS RALLY AND FLAG RAISING AT MONSON.

[For the Whig & Courier.]

Yesterday, (Monday, Aug. 28th) there was assembled at Monson village, the largest political gathering ever held in that town. Early in the afternoon teams began to pour in from Shirley, Greenville, Blanchard and Howard, and a four-horse coach containing the Abbot Cornet Band with a flag flying, bearing the name of Powers, followed by a number of single teams from the adjoining town of Abbot, put in an appearance. Many who were unable to hear Mr. Powers at the latter place, were determined to avail themselves of the opportunity to listen to the man about whom his enemies are making such a tumult in this District.

At 6 o'clock P. M., the Grand Army Post paraded the streets, headed by the band, after which a beautiful Hayes and Wheeler flag was flung to the breeze. Messrs. Hamlin and Powers both responded to loud calls and briefly addressed the crowd. Later in the evening the large Town Hall was densely packed and many went away unable to gain admittance, every inch of standing room being occupied. The meeting was called to order by Levi C. Flint, Esq., who called to the chair Hon. S. A. Patten, who in a very pleasant manner announced that he was extremely happy to introduce to the audience the noble champion of Republican principles, their gallant standard bearer in the Fourth District and the gentleman who is sure to be our next Representative to Congress. When Mr. Powers stepped forward, he was greeted with tumultuous applause. After the cheering had subsided, he delivered one of the most eloquent speeches upon the principles of the Republican party and their duty at this crisis that has been made in this county during this campaign.

At a certain point he was interrupted by a Democrat with the remark that the late rebellion "was not a Democratic one," and the able and forcible manner in which he retorted was demonstrative that in Congress he will have the true metal and bravery to fearlessly meet the ex-Confederates who are conspiring as of old to overthrow free institutions and trample upon the sacred rights of American citizenship.

Not a person was present but that was impressed with the fact that he possesses the qualifications to make him a safe representative in the National councils. He was frequently interrupted by loud applause and retired amidst the thundering cheers of the assembly.

Senator Hamlin followed with an able, fair and candid discussion of the financial issues before the people. It was one of the most wide-awake meetings that has been held in this county for years and all are rejoicing that there is not the least indication of bolting Mr. Powers, among the staunch Republicans of Monson.

FLAG RAISING AT LINCOLN CENTRE.

[For the Whig and Courier.]

Last Monday evening the Republicans of Lincoln Centre demonstrated their interest in the coming election by throwing a beautiful Hayes and Wheeler flag to the breeze. Never have we known more earnestness on the part of Republicans or confidence of success than at the present time. The bolters are not so numerous as the anti-Union sheet of Central street would have people believe, which will be evinced on Sept. 11.

Many of those who signed the call for the Winn convention say that the affair was misrepresented to them, and now declare that they shall vote the straight ticket.

It is understood that Rev. S. Besse of Chester will be the Republican nominee for representative of this class. The class will wipe out last year's disgrace with a handsome majority.

Dear Sir,—It gives me very great pleasure to inform you of the benefit received from the use of PERUVIAN SYRUP in my own family. My wife, for the past ten years, has been in feeble health—very much debilitated generally. Last spring she concluded to try a bottle of PERUVIAN SYRUP, and was so well pleased with the result continued its use until three or four bottles had been used, and she is now in better health than at any time for ten years, and has increased in weight from 110 pounds to 126½. I have employed physicians, and used a great variety of patent medicines, to the extent of hundreds of dollars, and I know she received more benefit from the PERUVIAN SYRUP than all the rest together. My sales on the Syrup are very large and constantly increasing, and I do not hesitate to recommend and even warrant it to give satisfaction. If you desire, you are at liberty to use this communication as you see fit, as it gives me pleasure to recommend so good an article to suffering humanity. Yours truly,

THE BACKUS

Water Motor

Run from Hydrant Pressure.

Since the introduction of water by the HOLLY SYSTEM, we have been carefully testing

The Backus Water Motor

as a substitute for steam, for Mechanical Industries. The result has proved so satisfactory as to power and economy, that we now offer them with the full confidence of established success, to parties needing something more than foot or hand power, and not warranting the expense of steam.

The cost of running this MOTOR is only for the consumption of water while the motor is in use.

We are ready to make contracts for furnishing Motors set ready for use and guarantee their work full up to the conditions agreed upon.

VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.

Its Medical Properties Are

ALTERATIVE, TONIC, SOLVENT AND DIURETIC.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scald Head and Ringworm VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Female Weakness, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, Vegetine acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervousness and General Prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the Vegetine. It purifies the blood, cleanses all of the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by Vegetine have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, Vegetine is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and is the only reliable Blood Purifier yet placed before the public.

UNQUALIFIED APPRECIATION.

BOSTON, Nov. 18, 1875.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

DEAR SIR—During the past five years I have had ample opportunity to judge of the merit of VEGETINE. My wife has used it for complaints attending a lady of delicate health, with more beneficial results than anything else which she ever tried. I have given it to my children under almost every circumstance attending a large family, and always with marked benefit. I have taken it myself with such great benefit that I cannot find words to express my unqualified appreciation of its goodness.

While performing my duties as a Police Officer in this city, it has been my lot to fall in with a great deal of sickness. I unhesitatingly recommend Vegetine, and I never knew of a case where it did not prove all that was claimed for it. Particularly in cases of a debilitated or impoverished state of the blood its effects are really wonderful; and for all complaints arising from an impure state of the blood it appears to work like a charm, and I do not believe there are any circumstances under which Vegetine can be used with injurious results, and it will always afford me pleasure to give any further information as to what I know about Vegetine.

CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

CHARLESTOWN, March 19, 1869.

H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir: This is to certify that I have used your "Blood Preparation" in my family for several years, and I think that for Scrofula or Cancerous Humors or Rheumatic Affections it cannot be excelled; and as a Blood Purifier and spring medicine it is the best thing I have ever used, and I have used almost everything. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine. Yours respectfully,

MRS. A. A. DINSMORE, 19 Russell St.

A Source of Great Anxiety.

My daughter has received great benefit from the use of Vegetine. Her declining health was a source of great anxiety to all her friends. A few bottles of the Vegetine restored her health, strength and appetite.

DEACON JEHIEL.

BY MRS. J. D. CHAPIN.

"Hath not life an Indian Summer!"

Deacon Jehiel Braden was a solemn, industrious, upright man, was as kind as one could well be, who lived so far apart from his fellows as he had. In his youth he had been one of the rural dandies of the region, and the chief beau of his native town, driving the fastest horse, and leading off all the village sports, whether balls, quiltings, weddings, or sleigh-rides.

When about twenty-five years old, however, a sudden blight had fallen on his spirit for which no one could account. He had danced half the night in wild glee at a wedding, played games of all sorts, helped to serve the guests from the bountifully laden tables, kissed the bride, gave her, as the wedding present, his best cow, with a white, heart-shaped spot on her forehead, and then went home full of glee. Next morning he looked as if fifty years had that night been added to his age.

He now put himself to work earnestly, having out cranberry meadows, and raising live stock. He withdrew from his old friends as if the sight of them burnt his eyes, unless he could help one of them, and then he came out of his shell, but returned into it as soon as the emergency was over.

Some of the neighbors thought his mind was affected; some said he had repented giving Matilda Day the cow he was so proud of and others decided that he meant to turn over a new leaf, having sown all his wild oats, and become a sober, settled man. Still more were the town's-folk surprized when, some months after this, he joined the church, and "took up," as he said, "an orderly walk." If the saintly old mother Braden knew the spring of these new actions, she kept it to herself. When questioned, she only replied, in her quaint way;

"Rejoice with me that this my son who was lost is found, who was dead, and is alive again."

Thus Jehiel moved on, cherishing and blessing his mother, and clearing and cultivating the hitherto useless land on the farm, till death left him and Ketury Perkins, his mother's life-long helper, alone in the great, broad farm-house.

His brother had married, gone West, made a great figurish in some patent business, and failed; he had come back, after this, set up a store in his native town, and failed again. Then he went back to honest farming, twenty miles away. Here he wearied, for lack of excitement of "ruling," and died, leaving a very helpless family.

Jehiel Braden was a man of very few words, and was slow in uttering those few, but when action was needed, he was as prompt as any one. He went to the funeral in the blue, swallow-tailed coat with gilt buttons, and the same buff vest, he had on at his last dance. They were still his best.

As soon as the funeral of his brother was over, he said to his sister-in-law.

"I fear you have nothing to live on, come to the home stead as if it were your own, and bring up your girls to be useful women. I'll send Timothy over next week with Star and Buck for you. I'll come in the covered wagon for you all, and if there are any bills at the stores, I'll pay them. I'll see to the doctor, and the funeral, so drop all care from your mind, and try to be happy."

Jehiel had grown to be a very careless man in a sense of the word. Though neat and orderly in his person, in his house and on the farm, he had laid aside all the restraints of society. He came to the table in his shirt sleeves, and sometimes in his stocking feet. He went to town, and even to church with his pants tucked into his cowhide boots. Once, he so far forgot himself as to put on a clean farm-frock on Sunday instead of Monday, laid a good coat of mutton tallow on his boots, tucked his butternut-colored pants" into them and in this plight took up the collection — for by this time he was a deacon. This was to the no small delight of the boys in the gallery, who were always glad of any orthodox subject for laughter in service time.

Ketury Perkins was just as independent of the world's opinion as was her master and she did ashamy odd things by way of shocking its sense of propriety as he did through absent-mindedness. She more than once presented herself at church in a clean sun-bonnet and calico sack, and enjoyed the staring of the people because she knew that she had a black-silk gown, a cashmere shawl, a straw bonnet and a lace veil, at home, "as good as Mis' Deacon Joneses, any day"!

You may be sure she was not particularly charmed at the idea of a lady coming to take her place with three cultivated girls full of airs. However she was not consulted in the matter and had too much good sense to throw herself out of a home, so she made the best of the innovation.

Deacon Jehiel had a great respect for good women, and from the hour his brother's family came under his roof he donned his coat before coming to the table, and even went so far as to buy a pair of slippers. He threw open the long unused parlor, and said to the young girls, "make yourselves at home in there."

He soon found there was a great lack in his establishment by overhearing his nieces lament the piano they had out West. He never spoke of it but engaged the minister's wife to go to town and select one for him. The first the music-hungry children knew it was being put into the house, and still he never spoke of it. Indeed he rarely spoke of anything at all.

The family lived on thus very happily for several years, when all at once they noticed a great change in Deacon Jehiel. He began to whistle at his work, and to sing with the girls; he brought in the neighborhood news, he bought a new carriage. —Ketury described it as "a carriage like folk-ses carriages," he even got down a violin and a checker-board from the garret, and for the first time in twenty-five years he played on them both with zeal and interest.

Passing down the main street of the village, one day, he saw a buxom girl at a window, and, leaning over the fence, he called out

"Martha, I hear there's a quilting coming off before long at your house."

"Yes, sir, the quilts, my own work,—a rising sun, with square and compass in the heart of it. Mother said it I ever got it done I should have a quilting just like those she used to have when she was young," replied the girl

"Aen't you going to invite me, Martha?" was the next question which startled the village girl.

"Why, deacon" she cried, looking at the hitherto grave man, to discern if he had—as the Irish say—"taken leave of his senses" "You go to a young folks' quilting?"

"Certainly I will, if I'm asked," said the deacon, smiling. "Your mother can tell you how expert I used to be at chalking the line, snuffing the candles, and throwing the apple-parings, in olden times."

Of course he got an invitation, and before many hours had elapsed, it was noised abroad that Deacon Braden was going to dance at Mattie Borland's quilting, and that folks thought he was going crazy.

For the first time in a quarter of a century the deacon set off for a trip to Boston; and, as Ketury said, "he came back made over all new." From the crown of his rusty, steeple-shaped hat to the sole of his tallow-soaked cow-hides, he was renewed in the outer man. He had even exchanged his ponderous silver watch for an elegant gold one. In place of the porcelain shirt buttons with which Ketury had always adorned his plain, cotton shirt, the deacon appeared with gold studs in a nicely polished linen shirt-bosom, gold sleeve-buttons, and divers other worldly vanities such as made a great stir in the Cedar Creek meeting-house; but it was only because he wore such clothes; others there had always dressed well. You may be sure the young folks stared at him, as he sat, dressed thus, with Mr. and Mrs. Borland, looked on at the sports of the quilting, and the question was whispered from one to another:

"What on earth has come over Deacon Jehiel?"

They soon found that the autumn sun had come out in brighter radiance than its earlier glory, and that life's Indian summer had come for him with bright skies, with flowers, and with the singing of birds in the heart.

One morning, soon after this, the deacon called his sister-in-law and her daughters into the parlor, and said:

"I have a plan to lay before you. I shall need this house for myself, now. You may live beside me in the stone cottage, or I will build you a little house in the village."

"We will stay as near you as we can; but who is to take my place here?" asked the widow in amazement.

You remember Matilda Day, the girl to whom I gave my pet cow, Dilly, on her wedding day? A few weeks ago I heard of her for the first time in many long years. Her husband was never worthy of her. He ran through her property and his own, then took her into a wilderness to live away from all privileges of schools, churches, and society. She's had a hard life. She's buried her oldest children, and was left alone, very poor, and three young boys.

"From boyhood up I had always expected to marry Matilda, but I was too slow in telling her so. The rich farmer from the next town stepped in, and married the only woman I ever loved. I choked down my grief, held up my head, gave her my best cow, danced at her wedding, kissed her, wished her much joy, and then went home with a broken heart. It was a long time before I could bear to see the sun shine, after that. Life and all around me—but just my mother—was changed. I became a gloomy, selfish man. But God came, and brought peace and life, and then I sought to do all I could for others for His sake.

"As time went on the wound healed, but the scar remained. I knew I was a stupid, awkard man in the esteem of others, and so I kept out of the way, except when duty called me forward. I had forgotten that the world, in itself, had any charms till you came here, and brought the fresh air and sunshine to these dull, dirk rooms. When you brought home that rose geranium in full bloom, it carried me back twenty-five years, when one just like it stood in Matilda Day's window. The songs the girls sing are the same she sung, newly arranged, and with other names

"Not many weeks ago I had, as you know, some dealings in stock with Carver, the Western man, who staid over night with us. In talking with him, I said

"'I suppose you never happened to meet with a man in your State named Waterson Blake.'

"'Certainly I have, a thousand times Did you know him?' he said

"'When I told him he was almost a townsman of mine, he said

"'Poor fellow' he made a sad wreck of bright prospects. He died poor, three years ago, and left his wife and boys in a sad condition; but she's a jewel of a woman. Everybody loves her We would all have been glad to help her, but she had her own idea of independence which she wished to instil into the hearts of her boys So she gave the incumbered farm over to Blake's creditors moved into the next town, and set up a school for little girls.'

"Before he went away the next morning, I drew a check for a hundred dollars, and sent it to the boys, from an old schoolmate of their mother's, and resolved to devise some plan to start them in life.

"The more I thought of it, the more I felt that Matilda Day could make the world new for me yet, and I wrote and told her so.

"Next month I am going West to bring her and the boys home. I want you to stay with us till you get ready, a home of your own. I can never be thankful enough for your coming to me. It has broken the dreadful spell that bound me, and brought me back to live among others; before, I only worked for them at arm's length. Now that I love all the world more, my life will, henceforth, be of more service to Christ and those He loves and pities"

The old stone cottage was repaired and furnished before Deacon Jehiel set off on his momentous journey, and the widow and her daughters, now nearly grown up were rejoicing in the prospect of a new and loving neighbor and friend.

Matilda Blake although a mature woman at forty-four years, brought back more sunshine than she had taken away from her native place a quarter of a century before. Her anxieties and sorrows had softened and brightened the natural loveliness of her character, and made her a blessing, not only at the farm, but also in the church and the town.

The Indian summer had indeed come to the deacon's hitherto clouded life, and his heart and his housewere opened afresh to the whole world; He looked henceforth more leniently on the follies of the young, and more charitably on the errors of all who had wandered from the right way. His voice, his features, his gait—indeed the whole man—were changed from a solemn, unsympathizing backdoor, as he used to be regarded, to a genial husband, father, friend, and Christian worker

There is nothing like a solitary life to fix a perpetual winter in the heart There is nothing like companionship with the good and true, who need aid and sympathy, to bring back summer—although it may be an Indian Summer—to the heart —Zion's Herald
